FASHIONABLE WEDDING.
St. John's Church, Bridgeport, Conn., was on Tuesday afternoon the scene of a fashionable and largely-attended wedding. The parties were Mr. Wm. H. Stevenson and Miss Mary, daughter of Wm. J. Shelton, esq. In spite of the heavy rain falling at the time the church was crowded, and many hundreds of people stood around the doors unable to gain entrance. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. W. Maxey. The bridesmaids were Louise Shelton of Birmingham, Miss S. Allison of New-York, and Misses Sarah Shelton, Jessie Porter, and nie Shelton of Bridgeport; the groomsmen, Messrs. Charles Shelton, E. Capon, E. Lyon, and F. Lyon of Bridgeport, and M. V. Curtis of New-York. The altar was elegantly draped, and was trimmed with roses. Immediately following the ceremony, from 6 to 8 o'clock, the reception was held at the residence of the bride's father on Golden Hill. The gardens were brilliantly lighted, and bands of music, stationed in the parlor and the piazza, to employment to the dancers until a late hour. The presents were unusually numerous and elegant, and attracted universal attention.
